

Privacy Policy (Updated January 2023)

It is Tatiana Tamai's and Booika's policy to respect your privacy concerning any personal details that we may collect on our website or in person from you. This Privacy Policy has been established so that you can understand how we collect, store and use your personal information.

We only collect personal information by lawful means with the knowledge and consent of the individual and by submitting information and/or using the website you give your consent to us that we may use your personal information on the basis of this policy.

Booiaka is responsible for your personal information and data. Our registered address is 501 Hammondville Rd, #509, Pompano Beach Florida 33060 and we can be contacted through info@booiaka.com.

We collect your personal data so that we can maintain your records on our booking system and so enable us to provide a great level of service to you. It allows us to fulfil our administration such as accounting and booking your sessions. It also enables us to communicate with you about your bookings.

The data we collect includes your contact details, date of birth, payment details through Stripe or PayPal and certain health conditions relevant to the exercises that you will participate in.

We do not under any circumstances provide your personal information to any other business for marketing purposes and we protect your personal data against unauthorized access, unlawful use and accidental loss. We do though share your data with Stripe, our payment system and our emailing system for marketing and transactional purposes.

Finally, if you have any complaints on how we use your data or any concerns in general them please contact us at info@booiaka.com.
